Kazor followed and ran them back, whereupon the Beisch family had him summoned to appear before Supt. Griesbach and answer to the charge of cattle stealing. They contended that the heifers were bought by Mrs. Beisch with money lent her by Kazor. The story was not believed and Kazor was discharged. In retaliation Kazor sued them for $45 damages for false arrest. Defendants did not appear and judgment was given for amount claimed and costs. C. de W. MacDonald for plaintiff.

THE EDMONTON ROUTE

The Montreal Witness, of a late issue, has an account of the troubles of the "Westmount" Montreal party, Yukon bound by way of Edmonton, as related by L. C. Taitton. The Witness makes the most of Mr. Taitton and his woes. That the real difficulties which Mr. Taitton had to face were great enough there is no doubt. Any man used to travelling only on electric cars or at worst on pavements, is liable to run up against several more or less unpleasant surprises in trying to reach the Yukon by any present route. But his experiences on the way are only such as he must meet in attempting to move about the district after reaching it. So, if he finds ordinary or even extraordinary travel too arduous, it is proof that he is not fitted for life in the Yukon when he gets there and had better not go. In just what light Mr. Taitton saw matters and things surrounding him may be judged from the follow remark in his letter from Lesser Slave lake: "Partridges, wild ducks and geese are here in myriads, but they have a strong taste." The traveller who objects to the taste of wild ducks, geese and partridges is certainly lacking in one very necessary quality for a good traveller. Further on he says: "The district around Peace River is an immense waste of country—hundreds of miles of bush and prairie." Just as, What did Mr. Taitton expect? Did he think it was laid out in villa lots, with brick cottages on them? Still further on he says: "This route I have no hesitation in saying is the worst of the whole lot." That remark suited the Witness to a "T." But how did Mr. Taitton know, since he had not been over any of the others and his experience in travelling was evidently very limited? The Witness has a reputation for good principle and reliability which it should be more careful to conserve than to lend the moral endorsement of a place in its columns to statements which are not founded on good authority, but which still are calculated to strike a blow at Canadian interests, with which even the Witness cannot deny the Edmonton route is entirely identified—as no other Yukon route is.

The BULLETIN has repeatedly stated the case regarding the Edmonton route or routes, and for the benefit of the Witness begs to repeat its statements. The Mackenzie river, or all-water route from Edmonton to Dawson is admitted to be longer than the routes through the passes, but it is claimed for it that if a start is made from Athabasca Landing at any time up to July 15th, it is immeasurably cheaper for the man who desires to take in his own supplies and is willing to do his own work, by reason of its being so very largely down stream. But a start must be made at the right time. There is no doubt that hundreds of the men who have gone by this route this season will get through cheaply and in good time. The letters which have been received from the Segers-Hardisty party which started from the Landing on August 18th, '97, prove all that has been alleged regarding the practicability of the route. Had not the winter set in exceptionally early at Fort Macpherson this party would have got through last fall although they started so late. The number of small steamers put on this season will greatly facilitate travel by this route in future.

The overland route by way of Peace River, has never been advocated as a route having Dawson City as its objective point, in competition with the coast routes. But it has been advocated as a better route than those by way of the coast for those who desired to reach the Omenica country in the upper waters of the Peace, or to divide between, and the upper waters of the Liard and Pelly rivers. It is practicable by land to the Peace River is proven by Mr. Taitton's own experience. That it is practicable by either or both of the routes is also proven by Mr. Taitton's own experience. That it is practicable by either or both of the routes is also proven by Mr. Taitton's own experience.

That the land route is practicable from Peace River to the Nelson branch of the Liard is proven by the experience of the Fresno party which reached the Nelson from St. John and by the Geddis and Harris, Osborne and Latimer and other parties who on the very date that Mr. Taitton at Peace River Crossing declared the route impracticable were in sight of the Nelson river, and declared the route to be good that far at least. From the Nelson there is no question about reaching the upper waters of the Liard by boat if not by land, and possibly by either land or water. But certainly not without difficulty either way.

The basis of the overland route is: First the known necessity for new prospectors to find new fields, it being acknowledged that the Klondike district is already fully occupied; and Second the idea that the divide between the heads of two great gold bearing streams such as the Liard and Pelly is a likely region in which to find gold.

FORT SIMPSON.

W. A. Oliver, of the Oliver, Brooks, Bell and Vaudin party, of Edmonton, writes to E. Raymer from Fort Simpson under date of August 16th, saying: In spite of all the efforts of the elements we are still living and intend to continue doing so. We reached here last night and pulled up into the mouth of the Liard to camp. Forbes Groat is here; he was up the river almost to Fort Liard where he got his leg hurt and had to return. Larsen is here also; he went up above Liard and then turned back; now he wants to go up again. On his way down the river he passed 65 boats going up. Few, if any, of these will pass Hell Gate so we shall have lots of company this winter. Shirley and his party have gone on down the Mackenzie to the Nahanni river. While we were at Resolution 15 of us, from different parties lying there, went down to the east end of Slave lake to look at that country. There were reports of gold having been seen down there, but all we saw was iron and copper pyrites, which had probably fooled the festive Indian. There were also indications of copper, nickel and manganese. The only good thing we got was fish. The east end of the lake is rocky with fine clear water and full of islands. In around the rocks we caught fine trout, some of which went 15 to 18 pounds. This little trip occupied almost three weeks. We had to lie up for seven days between Resolution and Providence owing to windy weather. The lake is a dangerous place in a wind. One man was drowned almost in sight of Resolution, and a little canvas steamer wrecked near Hay river. The Catholic mission got the machinery belonging to her. Henricks sold his little steamer to the company for the noble sum of $5.50. Chas. Griffin came to Hay river while we were there. He is to stay with Rev. Marsh, the missionary there, for a year. We are very anxious to hear something about a trail to the Liard overland. It is reported here that A. D. Osborne has passed the Nelson and is still going. That is the way we want to come out when we are ready. I utterly decline to come back the way we have gone. The trip can be made overland in less time and with less labor. There are four parties of us together now. We have been together most of the way from Grand Rapids and have helped each other over the bad places. "It will take all our force to pull our big boat up the Liard."

TO PELLY BANKS, VIA TAYLOR'S TRAIL.

Under date of July 12th, Capt. J. H. Mason, of the Mason party of 14 men, from Philadelphia, writes to J. A. Storel, hardware merchant here, as follows:

Near the Liard River.
DEAR SIR: Knowing that you would like to hear from the boys that traded with me, I write to let you know that the Philadelphia company, led by Capt. Mason, 14 men, are still going. We still number fourteen and are a happy set. We reached Peace River safe and in good order, goods and all, and then we bought 60 head of horses and are packing through on the Taylor trail, cutting the trail as we go. We are by far the largest and strongest force or party on the trail. If I could get to talk with the leading business men of your city it would mean a big boon to it. I shall return as soon as I get my boys through to the mouth of Dease river; will come down the river to the Landing and take the train for the east, and return to Edmonton in the spring. The people can endorse this trail put through on Mr. Taylor's blaze by the Philadelphia company. I am well known through the States as a mining man and the endorsement will take effect. I shall leave next spring some $5,000 in your city, myself, for supplies.

A later letter, dated Aug. 2nd, was since received, in which the writer states: I shall again write you a few lines letting you know that we, the Philadelphia boys, have turned Mr. Taylor's blaze into a trail, though it was many days of hard work for us. It is as I told you last March, the Philadelphia boys will go through with no turn back. We had a hard trail to make a good one out of, but now we are here with nine other parties. Mr. Taylor has done a noble work through this long heavy bush and he gets my hearty praise. I have been a miner for many years in the States and I know what it takes to make a trail. My boys are the same old fourteen; all happy and well.
Another letter dated Fort Nelson, Aug. 3rd, received at the same time, states: We leave to-day for the Pelly banks, all in a No. 1 trim; with sixty head of well packed horses and my old 14 men.

IT DOESN'T PAY

To put off buying a Wrap too long. The real good you get out of a new Cloak, Jacket or Cape is early in the season when the skies are clear and the sidewalks dry.

Later, when the gloom of midwinter settles down upon everything, a warm room holds you and a wardrobe holds your wrap. This weather invites you out of doors, and our beautiful line of Cloaks and Capes invites your investments.

Can you resist all this? Nay, verily. You will find style, fit, durability in every Jacket, not flash and show, but sterling worth.

WHEAT.
Wheat prices at points along the main line on Wednesday the 19th, were: High Bluff 56c, Portage la Prairie 55c, No. 2, Carberry 60c, Sewell 57c, Douglas 59c, Chater 59, Brandon 59c, Kenney 61c, Alexander 58c, Griswold 60c, Oak Lake 56c, Virden 55c, Hargrave 58c, Elkhorn 57c, Fleming 60c, Moosomin 59c, Wolseley 57c, Sintaluta 58c, Qu'Appelle 53c, Balgonie 52c, Regina 58c, Pense 53c, Moose Jaw 57c.

The lowest price paid was at Stonewall, 52c, and the highest at Neepawa 64c. The price at Neepawa was due to the effort of the local miller to secure the bulk of the good grain.

The deliveries aggregated 49,100 bushels. The principal deliveries were: 4,600 bushels at Brandon, 4,000 bushels at Plum Coulee, and 3,000 at Douglas.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN.
Mr. and Mrs. Pollard are the possessors of a young daughter. Miss Griesbach is about again after a severe illness. Our two political aspirants, Messrs. Shera and Tims, are now on the war path. We believe that neither gentleman would ally represent this district. Walter Ross intends opening a store in Grindley's old stand. Mr. Crosswell and family have moved into the village for the winter. Charlie Davis has put an addition to his store. Mr. Sinclair is building a house on the lot beside his stable. Large improvements have been made on the school and yard recently. Cunliffe & Bell have put some new machinery into the mill and have put up a new smoke stack. These are only a few of many improvements completed or under way at the Fort. Wintery weather still holds on. Oct. 24, '98.

ANGUS RIDGE.
Snow fell here for the first time, this year, on Monday, Oct. 17th. Several are threshing while many have not finished harvesting yet. Miss Lydia Shantz visited the burgh on Monday. Political matters are active at present. The convention at Wetskiwin on Saturday is causing some excitement. Mrs. R. C. Wyld and family returned from visiting relatives in Ontario. Mr. Wilson, tax collector, will soon be on the war path. Several in this district are getting cattle to winter as there is plenty of green feed for them. The death of Mr. Slaughter, who resided in this neighborhood for ten years, caused general regret here. He died at the hospital, Edmonton, a week ago last Friday. Oct. 19, '98.

LACOMBE.
Diphtheria is still prevalent here. It broke out in H. Honell's family last week, who with G. Reynolds, are quarantined. Miss Morphy who has been ill with the same disease will not be able to take her school this term. Mr. Puffer's family have all recovered from it. C. Laidman who has been here all summer will resume his theological studies next month. His class in Sunday school and the Methodist church presented him with an address and a very nice book after class on the 23rd. Mr. Laidman, has quite a fame as an amateur photographer and whiled away many an hour in this way. There is a very strong agitation as to the advisability of having an open air rink this winter. Some of our energetic young men are working up the matter. Mrs. Dr. McNeil of Prince Edward Island expects to return the last of this month. While out here she has improved in health and is quite delighted with her western visit. Mr. Martin, agent of the Mutual Insurance Co. New York visited us last week. Dr. Goodwin also made a professional visit. Quite a number of youthful additions have been made to our community during the last week. The Orange society expect to give a supper and entertainment on the 5th of next month. The Lacombe string band will take quite an active part in the matter.

Quite a sad event occurred on the 16th, when Miss Janet Proudfoot only 18, departed from this world. This is the second daughter that Mrs. Proudfoot has lost from consumption within the last three years, and she has the sympathy of all.

To the Electors
OF THE VICTORIA DISTRICT.
GENTLEMEN:—For the past four years I have been your representative in the Legislative Assembly, and now, at the request of a large number of the electors, I once more ask for your support in the coming election.
I do not for a moment suppose that I have pleased everybody, but at the same time I would ask that each and every elector will give due consideration to what I have tried to do, and have done, for the general benefit of the constituency and country at large.
In going about I find a continued demand for new roads and bridges, owing to the rapid increase of settlement. I also find that there is a necessity for test wells to be sunk by the government where water is scarce. If elected, these matters will receive my earnest attention.
I find that there has been discontent all over the constituency about not leaving the expenditure of road and bridge money in the hands of the statute labor districts. This matter is now being removed, and hereafter I will see that these matters will be expended through the overseers of the different labor districts, and will continue to do so as long as the work is properly done.
At an early date I will call meetings and will discuss these and other important matters with the electors.
Yours obediently,
P. WAGNER, T.M.S.

DISTRICT OF VICTORIA.
GENTLEMEN:—A number of the electors of the district of Victoria having requested me to offer as a candidate in the election for a representative in the Legislative Assembly of the Territories to be held very soon, I announce my consent to do so and hereby solicit the support of each voter in the constituency.
Having lived in the Northwest now for the past sixteen years I consider myself well acquainted with the requirements of the country. I shall endeavor to meet you all publicly as soon as opportunity will permit. Meanwhile I respectfully desire those who favor my candidature to promote it by every legitimate means. If elected to represent you it will be my aim to see that justice is done to every section of the district in accordance with its requirements and to support such legislation as shall be timely and in the best interests of the country as a whole.
In conclusion I will only say that if elected to represent you I shall consider I have been greatly honored, and I hope under the divine guidance I shall ever seek that I shall prove myself in every way worthy of the trust committed to you by you into my hands.
I am, gentlemen,

LESSER SLAVE LAKE

(Special correspondence.)

This place was the scene of a very rare event this week, the occasion being an old time half-breed wedding. The contracting parties were Miss Augusta, youngest daughter of Louis Callao, late of Lac St. Ann, now of Willow Point, and St. Pierre Ferguson, of this place. The affair was strictly up-to-date in every respect. The bride was bewitchingly attired in white and was attended by her sister Miss Callao and her cousin, Madeline Callao. The groomsmen were Richard Norris and H. Villeneuve. The wedding procession was formed at Willow Point and, amid much shouting and merry-making, the gaily decorated horses and carriages started for the Catholic mission, four miles away. The bright rays of the sun, shining on the smiling faces of the merry party, recalled to mind the oft quoted line, "Happy is the bride that the sun shines on." It was scarcely 12 o'clock when the distant, dull report caused by the firing of a blank cartridge down the road, told the eager, watching crowd of natives that the wedding party was approaching and the fun would soon begin. As they rounded the last turn in the winding trail every man and boy appeared to possess a gun and began to blaze away as long as the magazine had any cartridges left, the noise was simply deafening and made one recall what that old Matanzas mule must have felt like when the American fleet bombarded him. Everyone interested kissed every other person interested, or otherwise, and the eating started. As to that eating it was marvelous, wonderful, simply stupendous, a gigantic gastronomic gorge. According as the table was emptied of one outfit they adjourned to the large, commodious front room of Mr. Beseau's house and tripped the merry "Red River jig" and every other dance known to science. This eating and dancing lasted 36 hours by the watch, and I never saw so many laughing, good natured faces in the same space of time in Canada's largest town.

Some things I learnt at the dance and feed were:

Every person, without distinction of color or creed, was invited to come and have a big time.

Up to the time of writing I haven't heard of anyone who didn't go.

No person stayed away because so-and-so was going.

Or because they hadn't a new dress and didn't want to go in the old one dyed over.

The writer counted 465 husky dogs in and around the premises where the "wedding breakfast" was held.

The only place in America where one man is as good as another.

And where the women do not say, "There's Miss so-and-so with her mother's made over skirt on."

Among other things consumed were: Three head of steers, 20 bushels of potatoes and 15 fiddle strings.

The only paper in the world which had a representative there was the Edmonton BULLETIN.

Treaty is all you hear of now a days; and no two natives tell the same story and no two seem to understand what treaty means. The different traders here try to enlighten them, but it is not in their line exactly they do not succeed any too well. I don't know much about this treaty business myself, but my own opinion is that the Indian department might send up a good man at treaty time to explain the matter, and they would profit by it.

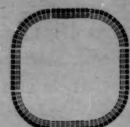

Eight boat loads of general trading goods have arrived here within a week. This will about wind up the boat arrivals for this season. A vast amount of goods have arrived here this summer. Two hundred tons is a fair estimate. This country is receiving a good deal of attention just now for stock raising purposes. A vast amount of hay can be put up here and next summer, with the treaty payments coming off, will help very much to show this section off to advantage.

Your correspondent was met the other day by a few traders, and enquiries made as to mail service, etc. Now I could give them no intelligent answer. What they want to know is: Cannot a regular mail route be established from Edmonton to this settlement? What do they have to do in order to call the attention of the post office authorities to their claim for a regular service? In fact any information on the subject will be hailed with delight.

Mr. Paul, and wife, arrived in per boat, from the Landing. He is building a house and will open out with a full line of trading goods.

Al. Brick and wife also arrived in safely and have gone on to Vermilion with their winter's supplies. To Mr. Brick belongs the honor of bringing the first news of the circus which visited Edmonton. His power of description is away up. He held us spell bound for a solid hour with his most graphic delineation of the proceedings. His explanation of the series of film-flams is the stock story of all the knowing ones here, and when he sprang the picture of the "Bovalapas" on us, excitement was

Poke your finger through this hole and see what's on the other side.

at fever heat. Two cases of ginger and one of peppermint were consumed before we could think of letting him depart. He got away at last, however, and his name will always bring back memories of two pleasant hours, mixed with Bovalapas and ginger.

Ewen Macdonald, H. B. Co. factor, arrived safely as did also Father Hudson, of the Catholic Mission.

Insp. Routledge has come and gone and the old town has settled down to the even tenor of its ways.

The mornings now-a-days out here wear a light fancy veil of white and are decidedly raw around the edges. But who cares! The hay is all put up, the vegetables are well housed, the cattle are rounded up and in the corral, and thousands of fish are waiting for the winter's consumption. Everyone wears a contented look and seems happy, so what's the odds.

BAZAAR.

For the last two nights a very successful bazaar, under the auspices of the Roman Catholic ladies of Edmonton, has been in progress in the new fairplay block. The entire lower floor is decorated and furnished for the occasion and around the walls numerous tables are set, where fancy work, toys, and candy are temptingly offered for sale. On both Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the attendance was large, the entire available space being fully occupied. In addition to the other attractions an interesting musical programme was provided on both nights. The programme on Tuesday evening was: Mr. and Mrs. P. L. McNamara, violin and piano duo; Mrs. Keegan, piano solo, and Miss Charbonneau, piano solo. Last night the musical attractions were two vocal solos by Mrs. Hockley, accompanied by Miss Thompson, several violin solos by Mr. Morin, of Battleford, and the Edmonton band which provided numerous selections during the evening.

To night an excellent musical programme has been arranged for and public interest promises to run high, as the territorial election contest, in which much interest is being taken, will then be concluded. A large number of votes are already recorded and at nine o'clock the state of the poll will be declared, after which the poll will again open for an hour before finally closing. After the final count the official declaration will be made and the successful candidates presented with their prizes, two very handsome chairs.
